

London and District Distress Centre

Call For Board of Directors Nominations

A Healthy Community through Caring and Connection

London and District Distress Centre is looking for caring, connected individuals to serve on the Board of Directors. We value caring, confidentiality, community, character, leadership, understanding and volunteerism. We are looking for committed individuals who have some time and passion for the community they reside in and would like to contribute their skills and experience to enact positive change.

London and District Distress Centre is a community-based organization that provides individuals in need with short-term empathetic listening and confidential telephone support, operated 24/7 by highly trained and caring volunteers.

The Board of Directors would like to include additional experience and skills to their already strong team. Interested individuals with experience in the areas of IT, communication, adult mental health, fundraising, and business are being sought. Additionally, the Distress Centre serves the broad cultural landscape that is the London community and strives to ensure that it is reflective of this community.

Board positions would commence as available or at the Annual General Meeting held in mid-September. New Board members are expected to attend meetings regularly, be a champion for the Centre in the community, commit to the Centre's Mission and Values, and support the premise of not for profits and volunteerism.

To apply or express your interest, please review our website at www.londondistresscentre.com, and submit an expression of interest or the application form provided, to the London and District Distress Centre Nominations Committee and your convenience.
